The Mission of The Junior League of Tampa

Founded in 1926, The Junior League of Tampa, Inc. is an organization of 1700 women committed to promoting voluntarism, developing the potential of women, and improving communities through effective action and leadership of trained volunteers. Its purpose is exclusively educational and charitable.

www.jltampa.org | FALL 2010 5
I wasn't a strong math student in grade school, but I loved to cook with my mom. The kitchen was where I learned my fractions and developed a comfort with numbers. "Mom, there isn't a \( \frac{2}{3} \) measuring cup in the drawer?" I would say. "Which two can you combine to get you there?" my mom would respond. Over the years I discovered that the kitchen was where I fit. Things there made sense to me. Today I often choose to read cookbooks over novels. My passion for cooking and reading cookbooks is something I share with many League members, so I am not alone in my excitement for the September 1st debut of Capture the Coast, Volume 4 of our Culinary Collection.

In this issue, Cindy Valdez will teach you the History of our Culinary Collection and you'll hear from several past cookbook chairs about their dedication of time, energy and waistlines to create a cookbook. Patricia Brawley will take us Behind the Scenes of Capture the Coast. We'll learn how tasting parties can be a powerful way to unite League members and their families in Sommer Stiles' article, Capture the Coast and the League. Kristin Kiser will show us how The Junior League of Tampa is Capturing the Internet and for the first time ever promoting the books using social media tools!

Another vital fundraiser for The Junior League of Tampa is our annual Holiday Gift Market. 100% of net proceeds of this premier shopping event will go to support The Junior League of Tampa's programs and community projects. Contributing writer Jacqueline Taylor will focus on the innovative marketing and member commitment responsible for the growing success of this event.

The Sandspur is introducing a new feature called What Women Want (to know). In every issue we will delve into often difficult subjects that touch each one of us. It is our hope that you will find them both informative and compelling. We begin with Sarah McMichael's struggle with her mother’s breast cancer diagnosis.

This fall The Junior League of Tampa is celebrating 85 years of service in the Tampa community. Throughout the year, The Sandspur is excited to take you on a journey through our mission statement and reintroduce to you these guiding principals. In each issue you will meet ordinary members who demonstrate these principals by the extraordinary work they are doing in and outside of our community. We will revisit launched projects and learn how the foundations The Junior League of Tampa has built have fostered even further success. We will also focus on The JLT's current projects and discover the impact we make on the community on a daily basis.

Now go out and get a shiny new copy of Capture the Coast! You’ll receive a great discount if you buy all four in the Culinary Collection set! Unfortunately, I am still a little rusty on my use of percentages, so see page 50 for details on the Cookbook Order Form!

JLT Cookbooks: A Treasured Tradition

The Junior League of Tampa cookbooks have always served as a legacy, an investment of time and tradition, handed from one generation to another, from our community to yours. But more than that, The Junior League of Tampa cookbooks are an investment in the foundation of our community.

These words appear in all four Culinary Collection cookbooks and speak to the impact that The Junior League of Tampa’s cookbooks have had on our League and community since The Gasparilla Cookbook’s first printing in 1961. As we celebrate the debut of Capture the Coast, Volume 4 of the Culinary Collection, I want to share a bit of my personal history with our cookbooks as this experience has shaped my time in the League and played a significant role in developing my potential as a volunteer and leader. [And, as a side note, my family would not eat nearly as well as they do without The Junior League of Tampa cookbooks!]

In the fall of 2001, I sat in a General Membership Meeting as a fairly recent transfer to the League. I had no real League plan or any idea that this was about to change when Danielle Welsh, then Chair of the New Cookbook Development Committee, got up to present her committee’s idea for a cookbook series, a unique and ambitious concept that no other Junior League had yet tried. At that time, the membership voted to produce a series of four cookbooks over a ten year period. I remember feeling a strong sense of excitement and desire to get involved. A few months later, I volunteered to serve on the Cookbook Steering Committee in the debut year of The Life of the Party (2002). A three year stint on the Cookbook Committee followed, culminating with the opportunity to serve as Co-Chair with Terrie Dodson in the debut year of EveryDay Feasts (2004).

My experience with JLT cookbooks continued as I assisted in various ways with Savor the Seasons (2006) and finally had the pleasure of serving as the Executive Liaison to Laurie Ann Burton and her fabulous New Cookbook Development Committee as we created Capture the Coast these past two years. It is with great pride that I serve as President in the Capture the Coast debut year and even greater pride that I recognize the tremendous and unparalleled accomplishment of our membership in achieving the goal of producing a four volume cookbook series in less than ten years - a first and only among Junior Leagues.

The funds we have raised since 1961 and anticipate raising going forward through sales of the Culinary Collection cookbooks support both our volunteer training programs and community projects. Cookbook sales augment our two primary fundraisers, Annual Campaign and Holiday Gift Market, and allow us to make an even greater investment in the community and in our volunteers than would otherwise be possible. Since 2002 alone, net proceeds from cookbook sales have totaled more than $300,000. Moreover, the many 100’s of women who have served on our cookbook committees over the past 50 years have gained invaluable skills – publishing, sales and marketing, financial management, and, of course, cooking!

The League’s 85th year of service looks to be an exciting one. This fall, we will celebrate not only the debut of Capture the Coast on September 1st but also the long-awaited grand opening of the Glazer Children’s Museum on September 25th. We will honor our Patron level and above donors at the Patrons’ Party on October 21st, graciously hosted by Suzanne and Roger Perry with food and beverages donated by Datz. And, of course, the 7th Annual Holiday Gift Market will be held at the Florida State Fairgrounds from November 5th-7th. I hope you will join us for an evening of preview shopping on November 4th at our increasingly popular Holiday Gift Market Bubbles, Baubles & Belles Kickoff Party.

All throughout this year’s issues of The Sandspur, we will celebrate The Junior League of Tampa’s 85 years of service to the Tampa community. We will recognize the relevance of the League’s Mission, the accomplishments of our members, and our impact on the community all along the way. In closing, I want to thank those who have supported all of our fundraisers, including our cookbooks, over the years. Thanks to your financial support and the contributions of time and talent from all of our members, we have helped build a better community these past 85 years. From 22 members in 1926 to a record number of close to 1,700 today, The Junior League of Tampa has been and will continue to be an organization of women committed to promoting voluntarism, developing the potential of women, and improving communities through effective action and leadership of trained volunteers. I am looking forward to another wonderful year!

Best,

‘Nourishing and Enriching the Independent Lives of the Homebound and Seniors’

Junior League of Tampa
Mr. Jennifer Carlstedt, President
87 Columbia Drive
Tampa, FL 33606

Dear Jennifer,

On behalf of all those involved with Meals On Wheels of Tampa, thank you to you and The Junior League of Tampa for your continued and generous support of Meals On Wheels. Your gifts continue to make a significant difference in the lives of homebound and seniors throughout our community as we work together to fulfill our mission. Thank you!

I want to take this opportunity to give you a brief update of the latest happenings at MOW in recent months.

In part because of your support, we were able to enter into a contracted partnership with Hillsborough County in late March that has allowed us to serve homebound and seniors registered with the Department of Aging Services. As a result, we have increased the number of homebound and seniors we currently serve by 10% in the past three months and are now serving more recipients on a daily basis than at any time in our 35 year history. To accommodate this expansion, we have established six new routes (bringing our total number to 55) and have added new volunteers and Adopt A Route partners to serve them.

We’ve also made improvements to our menu. Chef Tony, our Director of Food Services, has added five new entrees (including Pepper Steak, Chicken Provencial, and Italian Beef Stew) to our six week rotating menu, and these items will begin to be served to our recipients later this summer.

And as you well know, just prior to the beginning of Hurricane Season we once again partnered with you and The Junior League of Tampa to deliver Hurricane Preparedness Kits (five shelf stable meals, water, flashlight, and other potentially life saving items) to every one of homebound and seniors on our program. Thanks to your gracious financial support and the ongoing grant that The Junior League provides for this project, every one of our recipients has now received potentially life saving materials in the event of a storm.

These things have only been made possible because of you, our other supporters, and the efforts of our dedicated volunteers and staff. Together we will continue to work toward the day when no senior will ever have to worry about going hungry or being without a friend.

Thank you for making a difference in the lives of those in need in our community! As a small token of my appreciation, and as a constant reminder of the homebound and seniors we serve, please enjoy this picture of our trucks which bear your name and this gift of our 2010 Nourish the Homebound Breakfast video and. Thank you!

With a grateful heart,

Steve King

Thank you to all of the donors who have supported The JLT’s Endowment Fund this year! Your contributions have enabled the League to raise $75,000 in cash donations and receive a $25,000 challenge grant from The Community Foundation of Tampa Bay. The JLT Endowment Fund currently totals $100,000 and will grow to reach an estimated $170,000 once the remaining long-term pledges are received. Thank you again to all of our donors, and to the Community Foundation of Tampa Bay. We are looking forward to another great year and celebrating the League’s 85th anniversary!

As the first ever Fund Development Vice President for the League, I am so excited and honored to be writing the Vice President’s column at the start of our 85th year! To me, the creation of the Fund Development VP position signals how critical fundraising is to our success and the importance of developing a culture of giving within our League. Membership participation in our Annual Campaign has steadily increased over the past few years - last year 100% of the Board gave to the Annual Campaign, along with 40% of Actives and 35% of Provisionals. Our members also generously supported the League as Capture the Coast sponsors and Endowment Fund donors. My goal is to continue this trend! BWL

As children return to school and in places north of here the summer heat starts to abate, JLT prepares for our 85th year of fundraising. The funds we collect this year from the Holiday Gift Market, Capture the Coast, and Annual Campaign will determine our future impact on the Tampa community.

The Junior League of Tampa has a long history of contributions that benefit Tampa. In our first year – 1926 – we started off by raising $1,800 and contributing $1,000 back to the community. Not bad for our first year! And we have built an increasingly solid track record. Since 1985, JLT has contributed over $4 million to make our community better and has helped other Tampa non-profits expand their reach by giving over $500,000 in Enabling Fund grants.

Just in the last year (2009-2010), JLT raised more than $350,000 through our fundraising efforts and invested almost $250,000 in our 13 community projects. Some highlights of our impact on the Tampa community include:

- Giving children over 40,000 pounds of food through our Food 4 Kids project
- Reading to disadvantaged kindergarten students and giving them over 22,000 books for their home libraries
- Delivering over 600 Love Bundles -essential and comforting items- to children taken into protective custody
- Awarding $25,000 to 11 local non-profits through Enabling Fund grants
- Donating needed supplies to local non-profits through Treasures for Tampa
- Providing volunteers through Community Action to complete 10 done-in-a-day projects, including the delivery over 400 Hurricane Preparedness Kits to home-bound seniors
- Contributing 60,000 volunteer hours to the community. According to the Independent Sector, the value of a volunteer hour in Florida is $18.20, meaning that JLT gave Tampa over $1 million worth of volunteer time!

The 2010-2011 League year promises to be an exciting one. Our 7th cookbook and final volume in the Culinary Collection, Capture the Coast, debuts September 1, 2010. The Holiday Gift Market will be held once again at the Florida State Fairgrounds from November 5-7. Our donors who give $1,000 or more to the Annual Campaign will be recognized at this year’s Patrons’ Party, to be held October 21, 2010 at the incredible home of Suzanne and Roger Perry. Suzanne is a JLT Sustainer and the owner of Datz Deli – so the food is sure to be amazing! Most importantly, we will continue to invest in the community through our 11 community projects with a focus on foster care, education and literacy, and basic needs services for disadvantaged children.

“We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give.”
—Winston Churchill

Annual Campaign

Each year The Junior League of Tampa asks its members as well as members of the community to support our efforts by donating to our Annual Campaign.

When experts advise how to select which non-profits to donate to, they suggest giving to charities who:

- Maintain financial stability over the long-term
- Spend at least 75% of their income on the programs they support
- Spend less than 25% on fundraising and administrative costs

The JLT prides itself on meeting these criteria: our financial stability has been consistently strong since 1926, and 100% of our net fundraising proceeds directly support JLT programs and community projects. Donations to JLT are not used to pay for any general operating expenses, which are financed by membership dues and other administrative sources. Additionally, JLT makes donations go twice as far, as they are matched with an unsurpassed number of volunteer hours.
Every little bit helps! Your donation – no matter what size – will make a big difference:

When you consider a gift to the League, remember the benefits that our unique organization provides. For our members: you can’t beat the friendships, invaluable training, having a safe place to try out new skills, and experiencing that great feeling you get when you know you have helped people. And for our Tampa Bay community, JLT provides locally meaningful projects, completed by trained volunteers, and leadership for the future.

Grants

The JLT also raises funds by applying for grants. As with Annual Campaign contributions, our members’ volunteer hours add to the impact our funders’ dollars can have. Last year we received five grants and restricted project contributions:

- The Eckerd Family Foundation funded our “Soft Landings” Provisional Project with Mary Lee’s House with a grant for $10,000;
- Glazer Family Foundation awarded $5,000 for Love Bundles to provide essential and comforting items for children removed from their homes in times of crisis;
- For the third year, Sweetbay Supermarket provided $5,000 to fund our Kids in the Kitchen initiative, bringing healthy eating and fitness activities to two Title I elementary schools;
- The Saunders Foundation awarded $8,500 to enable JLT to hold our annual book fair where Title I kindergarten students get to select three books of their own to read over the summer; and
- The Frank E. Duckwall Foundation awarded $7,500 to fund our Fall 2010 Big Read, when we will read and give disadvantaged kindergarten students the book, If You Give a Mouse a Cookie.

Endowment

The JLT Endowment Fund currently totals $100,000!!! This summer, JLT secured a match from the Community Foundation of Tampa Bay for $25,000 by raising the required $75,000. Once the remaining long-term pledges come in, the Endowment Fund will stand at $170,000. This fund has been established to ensure that our League is able to maintain fiscal stability and pursue our mission without being affected by changes in the economic climate or decreases in membership.

Gifts to the Endowment Fund are never spent, but are instead invested to ensure a revenue stream that will enhance our current fundraising efforts. Once we have $500,000 in our Endowment Fund, then a portion of the earnings on the investment will be available to use. These funds could pay for special community projects, new training initiatives, scholarships, unanticipated expenses, or capital expenditures.

Thanks to all of our Founders Circle contributors and other generous donors!

In summary, the Fund Development team is already busy working to build on JLT’s previous fundraising success. I hope that you will consider supporting The Junior League of Tampa through a contribution to the Annual Campaign, the Endowment Fund or both!

featuring Krista Allred & Cindy Covington

Krista Allred, Mortgage Lender
FBC Mortgage LLC

If you need help simplifying the mortgage process, then it’s time to call Krista. She enjoys providing a “hands on” and caring aspect of the often impersonal mortgage world.

“I told my husband we should use Krista for our mortgage last year and we couldn’t have been happier. She made the whole process so easy for us and got us the best deal.” –JLT sustainer South Tampa

Easy to Reach and Always Discreet. Contact Krista to determine if today’s low rates would benefit you. Many clients are trimming years off their mortgage and saving thousands. Jumbo loans are available.

Cindy Covington, Dog Walking & Pet Sitting Service
Tampa Dogs Gone Walking

I own a dog walking & pet sitting service which cares for your pets with love. I treat your pets & home as I would want mine cared for. That simple guideline is the basis for how I run my business and take care of my client’s pets.

"I simply don't have enough good things to say about Tampa Dogs Gone Walking. They really take care of your pets & home as if you were family. They're incredibly friendly, patient, and helpful. Amazing customer care! I always feel relieved to know my furry kids are in great hands. I would recommend Cindy to anyone who needs a pet sitter of any sort!" –Kristin Kiser, JLT Member

If you want only the best for your pet(s), give me a call. We are a dog’s best friend.
With all of the advances made in the treatment of breast cancer, it is a grim fact that it still ranks second among the leading causes of cancer related deaths in the United States. Breast cancer does not discriminate: it affects women of all ages, races, religions, and sizes. With several charitable and educational organizations working toward raising awareness as well as funding for breast cancer and breast cancer research, it is an issue women commonly discuss. However, a facet of the disease that’s not often considered is how breast cancer can indirectly affect women. All of the women who are diagnosed are someone’s sister, mother, daughter and friend. The indirect effects of breast cancer are far-reaching to the families and friends of those who have the disease.

My indirect journey with breast cancer began three days after returning to college in Arizona. I had just spent three weeks at home in Tampa for the holidays. I left for school Saturday, and my mom called me on Tuesday with the news; she had been diagnosed with an aggressive form of breast cancer. I found myself dealing with a multitude of thoughts and emotions, the first of which were shock and disbelief.

Not being at home, and therefore unable to lend support, left me with immeasurable feelings of guilt. I was at school thousands of miles away while my mom was going through surgeries and treatments. It was three months before I even saw her again, at which point she had begun chemotherapy. Over the course of the following year, I endured fear, anger and sadness while watching my mom battle this disease. I welcomed happiness when her chemotherapy treatment was finished, and then, finally, relief upon learning she’d won the battle and was now cancer-free.

Seeing someone you love fight cancer is something for which you cannot fully prepare. It is a complex process, both physically and mentally, for everyone involved, and finding coping mechanisms is an absolute must.

I am not a psychologist, nor do I claim to know anything more than what I experienced first-hand. Cancer is a scary disease that affects millions of people, and everyone’s way of dealing with it is individual and unique to their circumstances. School, my friends and family, and knowing I was not the only one with a mother going through the trials and tribulations of breast cancer enabled me to have the strength I needed for myself and my mom. Through all of it, I learned many things about my mom and myself, and I feel that it changed me for the better. I discovered I was a much stronger person than I thought I was, I gained a new understanding of the importance of my own health and knowing my risks, and I learned to smile, even during the hard times.

Our President-Elect, Laura Hobby, has a sadly similar story. In 1997, Laura was teaching school, beginning her provisional year with The Junior League of Tampa, and planning her wedding. She was also learning how to cope with the news that her mother had been diagnosed with breast cancer. Laura, along with her mother and the rest of their family, suddenly found herself facing great challenges. As we all know, life can be overwhelming and finding ways to cope during the moments when patience and understanding are nonexistent can be difficult.
For Laura, having close friends and supporters were key in dealing with the plethora of emotions that accompany a breast cancer diagnosis and subsequent treatment. She would also find inspiration in the message portrayed at the end of the movie Parenthood. The movie ends with a story about a roller coaster as it relates to the ups and downs of life, explaining how one needs to enjoy every part of the ride, even the scary parts, to fully enjoy life. Laura and her mom looked at her cancer as a challenge to be handled with grace, patience, and an awareness of the preciousness of life, not a battle that consumes everything.

After speaking with Laura, I found our experiences to be similar in many ways. We both found ways to cope with the difficult realities of the disease, we had strong support from family and friends, and we both used our experiences as learning tools to better our own health. We also became closer to our families and friends. The silver lining of an encounter such as this is that it helps you to remember what is really important.

Since 1990, breast cancer related deaths have steadily decreased due in large part to increased awareness, early detection and improved treatments. We must continue to teach and remind our mothers, sisters, daughters and friends about the importance of monthly self-examinations and regular mammograms. Hopefully we will continue to watch the number of breast cancer related deaths decline and eventually become a thing of the past.

With the exception of skin cancer, breast cancer is the most common cancer that women may face in their lifetimes.

Adult women are encouraged to follow the screening guidelines of the American Cancer Society:

- Yearly mammograms beginning at age 40
- Clinical breast exams every 3 years for women 20-30
- Clinical breast exams every year for women over 40
- Regular breast self-exams beginning in a woman’s 20s

Women with a family history, genetic tendency, or other risk factors may be screened with an MRI as well as a mammogram.

The Holiday Gift Market (HGM) is one of The Junior League of Tampa’s most anticipated yearly events. This year’s HGM will no doubt live up to the hype. While many Leaguers relaxed this summer, the 2010 Holiday Gift Market Co-Chairs, Kim Carswell and Susan Zelenka, have been hard at work planning the event. Between the two of them, they have five years of Holiday Gift Market experience, which will undoubtedly contribute to the success of this year’s event.

As for the past four years, the 2010 Holiday Gift Market will be held at the Entertainment Hall at the Florida State Fairgrounds. HGM runs from November 5th through November 7th. The Kickoff Party will be held in the Entertainment Hall on November 4th, and the Sustainers’ Luncheon is November 5th. Continuing the popular theme from last year, the 2010 Kickoff Party, “Bubbles, Baubles & Belles”, promises to be another wonderful evening. If you have never been before, I highly recommend attending this annual girls’ night out. It is a wonderful opportunity to get together with your best girlfriends, rent a limousine if you so desire, and shop before HGM is open to the public.

The Holiday Gift Market attracts merchants from all over the country who come to the market to offer their unique gift items. The merchants sell everything from clothing, jewelry, and handbags, to food, art and children’s items. There are gifts at every price point, and it is virtually impossible to leave empty handed. You can find something for everyone on your list at HGM, and conveniently all in one place: children, parents, in-laws, teachers, friends, spouses, and even those that fall in the “impossible to shop for” category. You will also undoubtedly find gifts for yourself, so it is best to just embrace it and perhaps adopt my Holiday Gift Market philosophy: “One for you, one for me.”

In 2009, roughly 9,500 shoppers attended the Holiday Gift Market. The goal in 2010 is to have 10,000 shoppers come through the door. “10 in 10” is the phrase to remember. This goal will be achieved through active marketing of the Holiday Gift Market. In recent years marketing initiatives have been a large focus of the committee, and this focus will continue this year. HGM will be promoted through flyers, radio, newspaper, and television coverage. Following last year’s success, yard signs and car magnets will again be provided to League members to display at their homes, places of work and on their vehicles. It is important to stress, however, that the BEST marketing of the Holiday Gift Market remains the word of mouth of the members and friends of The Junior League of Tampa. And, as in the past, the Co-Chairs are coming up with fun incentives for those members of the League who get the highest number of shoppers through the door. A little healthy competition never hurt anyone!

The HGM Co-Chairs have lots of new ideas for the 2010 Holiday Gift Market. They have been working closely with the HGM Steering Committee and Committee, as well as getting feedback from members and merchants for new ideas to feature in 2010. This year, HGM will once again feature performers from local school choirs and choruses, craft making demonstrations and cooking demonstrations. Past Junior League of Tampa President Jennifer Carlstedt has agreed to don an apron and provide cooking demonstrations of recipes from the new Junior League of Tampa cookbook Capture the Coast. With Capture the Coast in its inaugural year, Jen’s cooking demonstrations should garner lots of attention and interest in the new cookbook.

While the Holiday Gift Market is a fun and exciting shopping extravaganza for those of us that attend, it is important to remember why we hold this event every year: it is a critical fundraiser for the League. 100% of the net proceeds raised through the 2010 Holiday Gift Market will go to support The Junior League of Tampa’s programs and community projects in the areas of foster care, literacy and education, and basic needs for disadvantaged children. So enjoy your shopping even more knowing that it is all for a good cause! We look forward to seeing all of you at the 2010 Holiday Gift Market.

As a father and coach, I trust St. Joseph’s Children’s Hospital for the best emergency care.

When my oldest daughter broke her arm we took her to St. Joseph’s Children’s Hospital. The treatment there was so great that when my youngest daughter broke her arm we took her to St. Joseph’s Children’s Hospital as well, even though another hospital was closer.

We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we do.
—Winston Churchill

We are prone to judge success by the index of our salaries or the size of our automobiles, rather than by the quality of our service relationship to humanity.

We show compassion when we help people. Every summer me, my mother and Virginia give food to home bound people. Many other families do it. This is called Meals on Wheels. We make people feel happy when we do this, and it makes me feel happy too.

Are Women’s Financial Needs Different Than Men’s?

They May Be!

Women live longer, so their money has to last longer.

Women generally have fewer years in the workforce, taking time to be with their children.

Women are less likely to receive pension income in retirement and may also receive lower Social Security payments when they retire, due to fewer years in the workforce.

The good news…women know how to invest and grow their money because women ask questions and tend to stay the course.

Even if you don’t currently manage your family’s finances, make sure you know as much about them as if you were managing the money yourself, because you may have to some day.

We can help you understand your investment and insurance needs. We at AXA Advisors are a client-focused financial services leader providing wealth protection strategies, asset management and financial and estate planning strategies to individuals in your area.

Dear Sustainers:

Welcome back! This year The Junior League of Tampa celebrates 85 years of service. What visionaries our league founders were! What vision our current membership continues to demonstrate. It is inspiring to be part of this group of women who are having a great time and accomplishing amazing things for our Tampa community.

This year we will continue the work of last year’s task force and take advantage of the many good suggestions from our surveys: welcome our Transfers, engage our new Sustainers and under 55 age group in more meaningful ways, and continue the fun and fellowship that is so much a part of being a Sustainer for all of us.

Mark Your Calendars! Back to The League Day, September 23rd, will be a great exchange of ideas and opportunities. The Transfer Luncheon in early October will be another chance to get together.

Last year’s done in a day Sustainer/Active projects were so much fun—we hope to repeat them. A huge team of Actives and Sustainers filled food bags for Food 4 Kids before Thanksgiving. Connected by 25 collected over 20 gift bags for new mothers and babies. Look for more information about exciting volunteer opportunities coming soon. We hope to support our Actives and enjoy their culinary talents with the release of Capture the Coast, the newest in the cook book series.

One of the many things The Junior League of Tampa does well is to offer opportunities for Sustainers to meet one another, to learn new skills, to learn more about our community and to serve it. Plans are under way for two very special “outdoor” adventures to celebrate Tampa’s beautiful surroundings. A fabulous bridge series with new instructors will begin in January. We are also planning discussions of community issues as suggested by many of our survey respondents.

I hope that you will contact me or any committee member if you are interested in serving on a committee or have ideas for projects or entertainment. I am so grateful to all of the Sustainers who have come forward to help this year. I am humbled by this opportunity and excited about hearing from you and working together throughout the year.

Sincerely Yours,

ernand Point, a man considered by many to be the father of modern French cuisine, once said, “If the divine creator has taken pains to give us delicious and exquisite things to eat, the least we can do is prepare them well and serve them with ceremony.” And thanks to The Junior League of Tampa’s cookbook committees, we have been preparing and serving wonderful dishes to our loved ones for nearly 50 years. While The JLT celebrates the release of the final installment of a Junior League’s first ever culinary collection, it’s important to understand the effort and dedication that goes into creating high quality cookbooks.

The planning, organizing, developing and completing of a single cookbook can be an intense, time consuming project; producing a collection of cookbooks has never been done by any other league chapter before. “No other league is willing to take on such a large project,” said Dave Kempf, President of Favorite Recipes Press, the nation’s leading publisher of Junior League cookbooks. “It’s a testament to The Junior League of Tampa.”

Working on a cookbook “forces you to choose [a few things to focus on at a time] or you’ll be good at nothing,” said Carol Ann Colbert, chair of Tampa Treasures, which required a three year commitment from its committee members. “Not knowing what to expect and learning about the work involved as we went along,” was the most challenging aspect of working on the cookbook for Abby Chilldon, chair of A Taste of Tampa.

Laurie Ann Burton, chair of the League’s newest cookbook, Capture the Coast, agrees: “When I started out I thought, ‘Oh this will be easy! We will collect, test and choose recipes and voila – a book!’ but it didn’t quite work out that way.” Having been “warned by previous cookbook chairs” about the hardships that accompany chairing a cookbook committee, Kristie Salzer, co-chair of The Life of the Party and food stylist for all four books in the Culinary Collection, still managed to find some personal benefits: “My family and friends never ate so well!”

Why put in the effort for something so time consuming and difficult? “Money!” says Dee Dee Gray, chair and editor of The Gasparilla Cookbook, the JLT’s first cookbook. “How else were we going to fund all of the League’s projects?”

With recipes that are still relevant today, The Gasparilla Cookbook has been The JLT’s most successful cookbook, gaining instant notoriety when a photo of Jackie Kennedy carrying the book began to circulate. With over a quarter of a million copies sold to date, The Gasparilla Cookbook is one of the best selling Junior League cookbooks of all time. It has been awarded the Tabasco Hall of Fame Award, given by the McIlhenny Company for community cookbooks that sell over 100,000 copies, and the Southern Living Hall of Fame Award.

More than 15 years after the production of The Gasparilla Cookbook, Abby Chilldon, and her committee (then known as The Professional Cookbook Committee) began creating A Taste of Tampa. During a time when large numbers of women were beginning to work outside of the home, A Taste of Tampa offered recipes that made life a little easier for busy families. More than just tasting great, each recipe had to be completed from start to finish within 100 minutes and ingredients had to be readily available in most supermarkets.

Seeing a shift in cookbook trends that indicated society’s renewed interest in elegant fare ten years later, Carol Ann Colbert said of her vision for Tampa Treasures: “We wanted to represent the community with upscale food to counter A Taste of Tampa’s quick and easy recipes." And as the entire first printing of Tampa Treasures sold out before the first copy was even shipped, her vision was clearly shared by many. Tampa Treasures raised the bar for future League cookbooks as it was The JLT’s first “coffee table” cookbook, with high quality photography and food styling in addition to delicious and inventive recipes. When brainstorming ideas for the Culinary Collection, with a nod to Tampa Treasures, Kristie Salzer said that, she “wanted to give the look of a coffee table book without the expense.”

While the books of the Culinary Collection have a shared style and layout, each book manages to maintain its own identity. Kristie and her co-chair Danielle Welsh worked tirelessly to bring us The Life of the Party, a cookbook that focuses on “entertaining with ease. We wanted to give cooks great food and the ability to get out of the kitchen and into the party!” said Danielle. Each recipe was selected for its ease of preparation and relevance to the book’s purpose.

EveryDay Feasts, the second installment in the Culinary Collection, was created with the hope to “bring families back to the table,” said chair Terrie Dodson. “We began working on this book just after September 11, 2001, and reconnecting with family was more important than ever.” While offering family-friendly fare, EveryDay Feasts also offers recipes with an abundance of fresh ingredients.

It was important to Taylour Shimkus, chair of the third installment in the series, Savor the Seasons, to “celebrate every holiday so [the book] can continue to sell year round,” benefitting the community when volunteering time or funding isn’t necessarily in the forefront of people’s thoughts. In addition to traditional holiday celebrations such as New Year’s and Fourth of July, Savor the Seasons also provides menu suggestions for broad occasions such as “Spring Tea” and includes several recipes that can be used at any time of the year.

For the fourth and final installment in the series, Capture the Coast, chair, wanted Capture the Coast to highlight “the outdoor life we lead here on Florida’s Gulf Coast.” The focus was on recipes that used local, sustainable ingredients including locally grown produce and seafood. Laurie Ann feels that Capture the Coast “rounds out a series that has books focused on entertaining, family dining, and holiday traditions. [It] features recipes that showcase fresh ingredients from our local farms and waterways, celebrates distinctive traditions from our rich cultural heritage, and complements our vibrant outdoor lifestyle.”

With the September 1, 2010 release of Capture the Coast, The Junior League of Tampa has successfully accomplished something no other league chapter has: a complete culinary collection that will have us preparing and serving delicious meals to our loved ones for another 50 years. And for that we are thankful because, as O. Henry said, “Love and business and family…are nothing but shadows of words when a man is starving.
“Food is our common ground, a universal experience.”
— James Beard

It is remarkable the power of food has to bring people together. Family gathered around a dinner table, friends cooking together in the kitchen, acquaintances becoming more familiar over a meal. All tied together by food.

Perhaps no one understands this better than the women behind The Junior League of Tampa’s newest cookbook Capture the Coast. Members of the cookbook committee, League members and other volunteers lent their time and their palettes to the testing and tasting of potential recipes. 453 recipes were tested by 154 members for a total of 867 testings.

Tasting parties were hosted by league members including Casey Carefoot (Active), Michelle Hogan (Sustainer), Aspen Kahl (Active), Andrea Layne (Active), and Jenifer Ownby (Sustainer). These hostesses were provided with a selection of recipes to prepare and serve at their parties. All had been previously vetted by the cookbook committee from a pool of recipes submitted by members as well as others developed based on thematic needs of the cookbook.

Based on the recipes selected, each tasting party hostess was asked to plan her own menu and party. The options were seemingly endless. Themes ranged from Lia Sophia jewelry parties to neighborhood potlucks. Some hostesses opted to focus on appetizers where others tested multi-course meals. Party guests tasted for flavor, fit (within the concept of the cookbook), and clarity of the instructions. Feedback collected through evaluation forms distributed at the tasting parties helped the cookbook committee to determine what recipes would or would not advance to the next step in the refinement process.

Andrea Layne volunteered to be a tasting party hostess because of her love of cooking and experimenting with new recipes. She hosted two tasting parties including a “picnic-style” dinner. The menu included Happy Fun Punch, Grilled Chicken Pita, Seafood Cornbread, Mango and Black Bean Salad, and Summer Lemon Cake with Mixed Berries Sauce. Appropriately enough, she and her family enjoyed tasting the different recipes she had prepared al fresco on a blanket in their backyard. “We were so excited to try new food,” commented Andrea, “my dog kept running and jumping over the plates and knocked over our drinks!”

Hostesses, like Jenifer Ownby, opted to turn their tasting party into an occasion to get together with good friends. She took her bridge group on a weekend getaway at the beach and asked each guest to bring the ingredients for their assigned recipe. Turning the kitchen of her beach house into a Capture the Coast taste lab, Jenifer and her friends gathered around her L-shaped counter forming cooking stations. Each station was equipped with measuring cups, utensils, and the essential ingredients needed to complete each recipe. The evening according to Jennifer was “Great fun, along with a bottle of wine!! And delicious.” Her secret to a successful tasting party, “Keep it simple for yourself so you can enjoy it also.”

As a Provisional Liaison, Casey Carefoot hosted her tasting party as a summer social for her provisional group. This was the first Junior League social event these new members attended and everyone had yet to meet one another. “Tasting the recipes and providing feedback was a really good icebreaker,” Casey said, “Once people started eating they started talking…after that my provisionals knew each other pretty well and were comfortable spending time together. It also educated them on an important part of the Junior League.”

According to Capture the Coast New Cookbook Development and Recipe Selection Coordinator, Lisl Unterholzner, tasting parties played an important role in the development of the cookbook, specifically as the committee sought to determine which recipes would make the final cut. The positive and negative feedback collected on the preparation, presentation, and reception of an item were ultimately the decision makers. Judging by the experiences shared by the tasting party hostesses, these gatherings also serve to unite family members, friends, and practical strangers on common ground—food. Containing over 100 appetizers, salads, entrees, desserts, and cocktails, the final cookbook of the Culinary Collection is at its sum a recipe for relationship building.

“Cookbooks, friends, and memories go hand and hand as does our Junior League experience. The feeling of friendship is being comfortably filled with food, love, and enlivened with a cosmo!”
— Michelle Hogan
Like any first-class cookbook, Capture the Coast encompasses so much more than tasty recipes. From the beginning, we aimed to portray the essence of life on Florida’s Gulf Coast, from our love of outdoor entertaining to our distinct cultural heritage. We wanted the fresh ingredients from our local farms and waterways to help tell a story about who we are and what Tampa Bay has to offer. We had a clear goal, and we had a year to create a cookbook that would make our League members and community proud.

In addition to collecting hundreds of recipes and coordinating the testing of those recipes, the New Cookbook Development Committee needed to make several major decisions upfront to set the mood for Capture the Coast. Perhaps most importantly, we believed the best way to illustrate our Florida lifestyle was to feature an outdoor scene in all of our photographs. That seemed straightforward enough, but little did we know ...

Our strong photography team laid the groundwork for our photo shoots. They worked extensively to scout locations, talk to homeowners, ask local merchants for props, coordinate the flowers, and arrange the assortment of logistics that go along with a successful photo shoot. It sounds like an easy process: pick the place, plan the shoot, organize the food stylist and photographer, and finally, snap the shot. As is often the case, this was easier said than done.

We quickly learned that no amount of preparation could overcome Mother Nature, who seemed determined to plague all of our photo shoots. Keep in mind, once we picked the date, we were “on the clock,” paying the photographer and the food stylist, not to mention taking vacation days from our full-time jobs in many cases.

The cover shot kicked off everything. It was a beautiful day on the beach, but the winds were brutal. We literally had to tie the table cloth to the table legs in order to hold the display in place. However, with a little bit of creativity, we pulled it off, and one of those shots became our beautiful cover image.

Fast forward several months, and we attempted a second cover shot in January. Only this time, it was a cold and blustery day. After raking all the seaweed off the beach and standing barefoot in freezing water to set up, the day turned out to be flat and overcast – a total bust for the cover photo. Yet amid the discouragement of thinking we’d wasted a full day’s work, the most amazing Florida sunset rolled across the sky. It’s now captured in our back cover photo, which only goes to show how remarkable and unexpected a day on the Gulf Coast can be.

Weather played a role in several other photo shoots as well. We had to postpone “Pirate’s Treasure” and “Boat & Tote” due to rain, only to learn that both homeowners were leaving town. With overwhelming generosity, both made their homes available in their absence. We even tried to use the weather to our advantage by carefully timing the “From the Fields” shot to picture strawberry fields in full bloom, but that ended up coinciding with one of the coldest days on record. While there were few strawberries in sight, you could see ice frozen under the shade!

Meanwhile, the recipe selection team had their own set of issues, from conflicting testing results to some failed attempts at creating that perfect batch of mini peanut butter tarts. There were a few nights when pizza had to be delivered for backup support, and then of course the question of what to do with four cups of banana guava ketchup? But for the most part, we all fed our family and friends well with our constant cooking. In fact, we joke that one committee member’s boyfriend liked her cooking so much that he proposed.

Once all was said and done, we all improved our cooking skills, learned a lot, and created a cookbook that reflects our way of life on Florida’s Gulf Coast.

Florida Key Lime Pie with Gingersnap Crust

1 ½ cups crumbled gingersnap cookies
¾ cup sweetened flaked coconut
¼ cup (1/2 stick) unsalted butter, melted
1 (14 oz.) can sweetened condensed milk
½ cup Key lime juice
1 teaspoon lime zest
4 egg yolks
Whipped cream
Toasted sweetened flaked coconut

• Preheat the oven to 350 degrees.
• Pulse the cookies in a food processor until finely ground. Add ¾ cup coconut and pulse to mix. Add the butter and pulse to mix. Press over the bottom and up the side of a 9-inch pie plate.
• Bake for 8 to 10 minutes or until golden brown.
• Cool on a wire rack. Maintain the oven temperature. For a nuttier flavor, toast the coconut.
• Combine the condensed milk, lime juice, lime zest and egg yolks in a bowl and beat well. Pour into the cooked crust.
• Bake for 7 to 10 minutes or until set
• Let stand until cool. Top each slice with a dollop of whipped cream and sprinkle with toasted coconut. The pie also may be made using a graham cracker crust.

Yield: 8 to 10 servings

Since 1961, The Junior League of Tampa has successfully created and sold award-winning cookbooks. The six cookbooks previously released were marketed in the most traditional manner- order drives, newspaper ads, word of mouth, local store promotions, and even with a grainy photo of First Lady Jackie Kennedy. However, times have changed since we released our first cookbook almost 50 years ago.

The fourth and final volume of The Junior League of Tampa’s Culinary Collection, Capture the Coast, debuts on September 1st. With it the League ushers in new marketing measures that will allow us to capture new audiences in the 21st century.

For the first time ever a JLT cookbook will be promoted with a full suite of social media tools. Blogs, Facebook status updates, online photo albums, videos and tweets will update both League members and the community at large.

In our first-ever JLT cookbook blog, League members will share stories of their Capture the Coast culinary journey, cooking through the newest cookbook recipes. Log on to read their adventures, mishaps and what’s for dinner.

The League will also be tapping Past-President Jen Carlstedt to show us how to cook some of the more capturing recipes in the book. Video demonstrations will be available in our first ever YouTube Channel.

League members are spending more and more time online- especially checking in with their friends and family on Facebook. “Like” our page and you will now be able to receive the latest cookbook updates from your Facebook homepage. Check out pictures, try new recipes before the debut and hear what other League members are saying about Capture the Coast.

Interact with the Cookbook Committee at a moment’s notice via Twitter. In 140 characters or less we will be bringing our cookbooks to the social media sensation. Polls, giveaways and hashtags will be coming at you this fall!

Social media is new territory for The Junior League of Tampa- the perfect way to interact with our new cookbook, Capture the Coast. Keep an eye out for information on how you can follow us online.

Capture the Coast

Capture the Coast arrives at JLT Headquarters

Cookbook Co-Chairs Jaime Brewer and Lisl Unterholzner and New Cookbook Development Chair Laurie Ann Burton take their first look at Capture the Coast
The Junior League of Tampa has a special and significant history. As we look back at the times and women who shaped The Junior League of Tampa we are reminded of how much has changed, and how much has stayed the same.

17 Provisionals were introduced at the Provisional Ball at the Tampa Yacht Club.

The Puppet Committee performs with Nestor (the talking horse) for thousands of grammar school children.

Members perform “Box of Smiles” for the Children’s Theatre benefit.

Members tell the League of their year’s investigation of the book & publishing business. The poster is a hypothetical cookbook!

The JLT presents a portrait of Clifford MacDonald, Chair, MacDonald Training Center.

The JLT in 1960 - 1961

- There were 471 total members
- Active members paid $25 in dues
- The Headquarters Committee had plans drawn up for a new building - what is today The JLT headquarters
- $3,885 was spent directly on projects and $2,307 was donated directly to community organizations

Around the Nation in 1960

- John F. Kennedy announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination
- A gallon of gas was 25 cents
- Ray Charles won two Grammys for “Georgia on My Mind”
